LETTER OF AMENDMENTS

New Amended Claims are herein enclosed to substitute for the previous Amended Claims under Article 19 as included in the international publication. These new claims are intended to avoid overlapping with the contents of said cited reference.

New Claims 1 and 2 substituting for all Claims as Amended under Article 19, and therefore substituting also for all Claims as Original in the international application.

The essence of the present invention is to provide a method of storing all kinds of garments using horizontal removable bars, not limited to trousers only. Trousers are often hung from horizontal fixed bars, and from removable ones in the herein cited reference.

Thus, more specifically, the essence of the present invention is to provide a method for storing in vertical position those garments that are usually stored horizontally. Said garments are mainly garments having sleeves.

The method also provides the way to hang trousers matching the size of said garments having sleeves.

New Claim 1 narrows the former independent claim 1 by integrating claim 4 in it.

New Claim 2 narrows the former independent claim 2 by integrating claim 5 in it.

Very respectfully, the applicant and inventor,

Jorge Escatllar
